

ABSTRACT

A container capable of being erected from multiple blanks in a machine and lidded post filling in that machine line. By a simple adaptation two different forms of filled container are envisaged each preferably adapted for transporting frozen meat or like frozen products.